Asian Parliamentary Debating Format

APD format features two teams per debate: the Government and the Opposition. Each team consists of three members with each of them giving one speech, followed by reply speeches. The Government side proposes the motion, while the Opposition argues against it. Debaters speak in an alternating sequence in the given order, starting with the Prime Minister (Government), followed by the Leader of Opposition, the Deputy Prime Minister, the Deputy Leader of Opposition, the Government Whip, the Opposition Whip, the Opposition's reply, and ending with the Government's Reply. Each main speech is typically 7 minutes long, and reply speeches are 4 minutes. The format encourages logical reasoning, rebuttals, and persuasive articulation, emphasizing teamwork and strategic thinking. All the debates will be judged by the criteria outlines in the UADC 2025 Handbook.

Tab Form, Adj Test and Check Ins

The tab is where the draws, scores and the results of each round are updated. Entry to the tab is based on the tab form, and initial adjudicator allocations are made based on the performance in the adjudication test. Hence, every participant must fill out these forms as soon as they recieve them. The forms will be sent to the participants upon successful registration. Thanks for your cooperation!

At the start of each round of debating, it is important for you to check in to indicate your availability for the round, on your private URL link provided after filling the tab form. Any failure to do so can result in unfortunate outcomes, such as being dropped for a round. The OC reserves the right to drop teams/adjes. The timely proceeding of the tournament requires cooperation from all the participants and therefore, we request you to check in at the alloted time.

IRON PERSON POLICY

- WHAT IS AN "IRON PERSON"? An "iron person" in a debate is a single debater who performs the roles and speeches of multiple team members, usually because a teammate is absent.
- IRON PERSON POLICY: Out of the 4 In-Rounds taking place, a team will be eligible for breaks only if they have used the "iron person" less than or equal to once. A single member will not be allowed to make two consecutive speeches. For instance : If a team member is absent for a round, the speech flow will look like: Member I : First speech and third speech, Member 2: Second speech and Reply speech
- NOTE: At no point of time is a team allowed to exchange their teammate for another person. You may use the iron person policy if any team member is unavailable.
